

Students rejoined their classmates to pick up where they left off in our wide variety of classes, including Medicine, Architecture, Business, and many more. As the students got back into the swing of things, they began to await their daily notices to hear what the rest of the day had in store for them.

After the success of the London walking tour, we held a tour of our own this afternoon, taking students around the Bookshops of Cambridge! This featured the Haunted Bookshop, specialising in children's illustrated books, new academic books from Cambridge University Press, and rare, antique finds in G.David bookshop. Those who spent yesterday afternoon trying something new at the Taster Courses, got to enjoy the second day of their chosen subjects, including Leadership, Economics, and an Introduction to Medicine.

Sports were also back in high demand after the weekend's sports' day. After a lunch break in the sun, seeing Cambridge in all its glory, the students gathered at the sports field for some volleyball, football and tennis! The students formed into teams, taking on their fellow college mates and even supervisors. The afternoon was a real hit for all involved once again!

After dinner, the evening's lecture saw a direct descendent of Charles Dickens taking us through the life of the most famous novelist of the Victorian era. What an opportunity for the students to be given an intimate glimpse into the life and works of one of the great writers, through the eyes of someone who carries his bloodline!

Following on from such an insightful lecture, we had the famous ghost tour, led by our very own 'Spooky Luke', taking a tour of the unexplained happenings, and the eerie history of Cambridge! Another cracking day ending in high spirits...
